

Product Model Comparison Statement

The FST200-00HA and FST200-00HC are two different models of our FST200 series product, with some differences in the hardware circuit board, power supply scheme and appearance. The following are the differences between the two models:

1. Power Supply Scheme: The FST200-00HA model is designed with a direct battery power supply for the device, while the FST200-00HC model is designed with a 12v adapter, voltage that is reduced to 5V to power the device.
2. Appearance: The FST200-00HA model is designed with a dual-interface, with one of the interfaces dedicated for the power adapter, while the FST200-00HC model is designed with a single-interface.

However, the other parts of both models are consistent.

We hereby declare that the above differences exist between the FST200-00HA and FST200-00HC models. Customers are advised to carefully choose the model that best meets their requirements based on their individual needs.
