In reference to a request for certification from Motorola Inc VHF high power booster radio system. Elite performed a certification of the above referenced product manufactured by Motorola Inc. Deficiencies were discovered during the certification process. The noted deficiencies were addressed in correspondence between the appropriate test facilities and Elite Electronic Engineering. The correspondence is indicated below.

Questions from Elite.

Upon review of the VHF high power booster radio system it was determined that additional information is required before the certification can continue. Please address the following issues:

1. Exhibit E - 2.1049 Occupied Bandwidth. Please submit the occupied bandwidth measurement data for the input signal to the equipment.
