The image shows the back of a silver laptop. In the top right corner, there is a small label with the text "Designed by Apple in California. Assembled in China. Model A1223, 14th Gen. Serial 22071134 1866". Below this, there are several regulatory logos: a CE mark, a crossed-out X, a square with a dot, a triangle with an exclamation mark, and a PC mark. To the right of these logos, there is a block of text: "This device has not been authorized as required by the rules of the Federal Communications Commission. This device is not, and may not be, offered for sale or lease, or sold or leased, until authorization is obtained. Assembled in China." The laptop has four large circular ventilation holes, one in each corner. There are also several smaller screws visible around the perimeter of the back plate.
