

Tune-up Procedure

At the factory during production the transceiver functional performance is evaluated and tested on a pass or fail basis using a Minimum Performance Specification (MPS). Products that do not meet the MPS are removed from production. The user is not offered any procedure to tune the product and any device that fails in the field will require return to a Garmin service center.