

Basic Elements of Optical Mouse

While the mouse moving, light information caused by the high-brightness LED, reflect off moving surface, passed through the glass and is caught by an sensor in the optical IC, encoded by the MCU, then sent to the PC through a cable to drive the cursor move according to the instruction of the computer